HEMP at Lexington is this week quoted at $5.50.

EX-GOVERNOR HENDRICKS favors Cox for the Speakership.

THREE of the suspended Pittsburgh iron mills have resumed operations.

THE Constitutional Prohibition Convention will be held at Indianapolis, November 30th.

THE total number of immigrants that arrived in this country during the ten months ended on the 31st of October was 501,037 as against 609,015 the same time last year.

HON. JOHN G. CARLISLE claims in the contest for Speakership, eight votes from this State, eight from Ohio, five from Indiana and a total of ninety-four, which is sufficient to elect.

STRONG influences are being brought to bear in Washington to secure the appointment of a Federal Judge for Dakota, who is favorable to the removal of the Capital to Bismarck.

CANADA is not disposed to assist the destitute immigrants sent over by the English Government, and is contemplating the following of the example of the United States in sending them back.

SOME of the Republican Congressmen are anxious that the compliment of the nomination for the Speakership shall be given to Judge Kelley, of Pennsylvania, who has had a seat in the House for twenty-two years.

Kentucky Speakers.

Kentucky has furnished the following Congressional Speakers:

Senate—R. M. Johnson, 1837 to 1841; John C. Breckinridge, 1837 to 1841. Eight years in all. House—Henry Clay, 1811 to 1846, and 1849 to 1850; John White, 1841 to 1843; Lynn Boyd, 1851 to 1855. Fifteen years in all. In 1879 Hon. J. C. S. Blackburn came within five or six votes of getting the Democratic caucus nomination, which was equivalent to an election, and it seems that Hon. John G. Carlisle be elected Speaker of the next House.

A Glean of Hope.

Let the Maysville BULLETIN not despair. At Lexington, Mo., a special election was held, and it was voted by 645 majority to restrain hogs from running at large. Quite a lively canvass was made.

Gleanings.

Thank heaven for the frosty nights and cool November days! A fellow can stroll through the wood now without leaping high into the air and trying to die every time he steps on a crooked twig, and fancies, as it flies up and strikes his legs, that it is a black snake seventy-five feet long.

While writing in a London hotel one day Theodore Hook was disturbed by a noisy procession, accompanied by a brass band. "What's all that?" he inquired, impatiently. "A temperance procession," was the answer. "What nonsense," exclaimed Hook. "I don't make such a row as that when I get sober."

The Duke of Argyll is about to publish a history of the management of his estate in the Hebrides for thirty years. He is intensely disliked by the crofters on all his estates, and tale after tale is told of the severity with which he carries out those principles as to landlord rights which he advocates in the House of Lords. George Peck, proprietor of Peck's Sun, was once a reporter in New York, "several hundred dollars poorer than when he was simply dead broke," and he left New York determined never to return until he had amassed a fortune of at least thirteen dollars. His Sun is said now to yield him an income of $25,000 a year.

"Some friends of mine," says the correspondent of a Glasgow newspaper, "who visited Carlyle's house, a few days ago, informed me that it is standing empty, very dismal-looking, rather dilapidated, ticked to be let or to be sold. Will Scotchmen allow this to continue—will they allow to go to wreck and ruin this house in which for seven-and-forty years he lived?"

At the recent marriage of Miss Gertrude Tucker, daughter of the Hon. Randolph Tucker, of Virginia, to Mr. Logan, of New York, one of the presents was a pair of silver candlesticks, formerly owned by Lady Spotswood, wife of Virginia's old colonial Governor. Mr. Tucker's son is rector of St. Paul's in Norfolk, and has in his study in the church the chair in which John Hancock sat to sign the Declaration.

Earl Fitzhardinge, the popular hunting Earl of Berkeley Castle, wherein King Edward II is said to have been killed, chiefly signified himself by giving $20,000 for a bull and redeeming much land. The Severn is very broad near his estates, and he gave orders that a stone wall should be built in a line parallel with the shore, but so far away that when the tide came in it washed mud over the stones, but could not wash it back. In this way he added many acres to his land.

Of the burlesque prima donnas of negro minstrelsy, a performer is quoted as saying: "Tom Foley, generally known until his recent death as Ricardo, didn't have any difficulty in cultivating the falsetto voice that he used so cleverly on the stage. The trouble was all the other way. His thin, womanish voice was natural. He had in boyhood been a soprano singer in a church choir, and when he grew to manhood the qualification for that kind of vocation didn't leave him. That was all very well as providing a means of making an easy good living; but he was sensitive about it, and would have gladly spoiled it by acquiring a masculine depth of tone. It was his constant endeavor to get rid of his falsetto."

THE STEAMBOAT WAR.

The Approaching Crisis—A Settlement to be Had or War to the Knife.

Wheeling Intelligence.
For the past three months numerous steamboat men between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, but more especially those in the lower short trades, have been putting forth every effort to arrange for some amicable agreement whereby the rates both freight and passenger, might be uniform on the river between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati and intermediate points, and the steamers at the same time make enough money to live on. Everyone knows something personally or remembers about the big fight last summer, the cheap rates, etc. The Big Sandy line objecting to the rates the St. Lawrence was giving between Pomeroy and Cincinnati, finally switched the Ohio off against the St. Lawrence, and they both went through to Pittsburgh. There is but little doubt that the Ohio lost money in that venture. The St. Lawrence did a smashing business, and has ever since she went into the Pittsburgh trade making enough at this end to enable her to give very low rates below Pomeroy. At the same time that the Ohio went into the Pittsburgh trade the Big Sandy Line had its three large handsome side-wheelers prolong their trips to Parkersburg. During this fight Commodore Stockdale, of the Stockdale Line, was a Big Sandy sympathizer. During the low-water season the ill-feeling continued, but did not to any perceptible extent injure the St. Lawrence's big trade. The latest information, however, is received from Cincinnati, and to the effect that this trouble is to be settled or else there will be the biggest kind of a fight. It is reported, that unless Capt. List agrees to a compromise to-morrow, the Big Sandy Line will place three of its big side-wheelers in the Pittsburgh trade against the St. Lawrence, probably running one of them on the same day and time of the St. Lawrence.

All steamboat owners, especially the short line men, in the lower river, are reported to be much excited over this, as it will seriously affect them. Especially is this the case in the Cincinnati and Kanawha, Portsmouth and Pomeroy, and Gallipolis and Parkersburg trades, though they have had no hand in the fight heretofore. While the Big Sandy boats and the St. Lawrence are the most interested, the Stockdale Line is reported as not being adverse to taking a shy at the Lists. Com. Williamson, of the Sandy Line, was selected to conduct the fight against the St. Lawrence, should that become necessary, but he has refused on account of his bad health, therefore Capt. Henshell and Supt. Holloway, of the Sandy Line, and Com. Stockdale, of the Stockdale steamers, will be the leading spirits. They control some ten or twelve steamers, among them the Bonanza, Boston, Telegraph, Fleetwood, Morning Mail, Ohio, Buckeye State, Scotia Emma Graham and Katie Stockdale. All the steamers in short trades are doing everything they can to have the matter fixed up, and it is hoped that an agreement satisfactory to all may be made. Should the fight come on look for old fashioned times—plenty of big boats and low rates.

Dr. Ladell has discovered that prussic acid is an antidote to poisoning with strychnine. Medical men will be cautious in using it, however, as the prussic acid, to be of any use, must be given in doses which would be fatal under any other circumstances.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla thoroughly cleanses the blood, stimulates the vital functions, and restores health and strength. No one whose blood is impure can feel well. There is a weary, languid feeling, and often a sense of discouragement and despondency. Persons having this feeling should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla to purify and vitalize the blood.

Lost Faith in Physicians.

There are innumerable instances where cures have been effected by Scoville's Sarsaparilla, or Blood and Liver Syrup, for all diseases of the blood, when the patient has been given up by physicians. It is one of the best remedies ever offered to the public, and as it is prepared with the greatest care, as a specific for certain diseases, it is no wonder that it is more effectual than hastily written and carelessly prepared prescriptions. Take Scoville's Blood and Liver Syrup for all disorders arising from impure blood. It is endorsed by all leading professional men.
